Protecting your money

We hold your premium payment in a trust account until it is passed to the insurer. While it is in the account, your money cannot be used for any purpose other than paying the insurer. We will retain any interest earned on the account.

Your duty of disclosure

The Consumer Insurance (Disclosure and Representations) Act 2012 updated the legal basis on which insurance contracts are sold to consumers and brings outdated laws into line with current market practice. The Act makes it clear that consumers need to take care when answering questions asked as part of an insurance application.

Customers have a duty of disclosure and whilst there is no need for you to volunteer information it is your responsibility to provide complete and accurate information and answer questions fully. Incorrect information may invalidate your insurance and any claims may not be paid. You must inform us of any changes to your policy details during the life of your policy, including at renewal. Please read all policy documentation carefully and inform us immediately of any incorrect information.
